It builds its nest in the top of a tall dead tree, so old and worn that the bark and branches have fallen off, leaving only a suppery pole.

Nobody knows how the tender young ducklings get from the mest to the water.

Legend says that the mother bird carries her babies herself, holding them by the bill, and supporting them by the strong neck until she places them safely in the water. No wonder that the cured will be sent free on application.

Testimonials of those who have been cured will be sent free on application.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pilla, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist, the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per beatle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pilla.
